THIS WEEK

A wonderfully busy week here at Sherington.

Firstly, I want to let you know that your financial contributions, gifts and warm words have now been sent to Amanda Burnell. Thank you for providing Amanda with such a fitting tribute – acknowledging her dedication and leadership, and the impact she had on so many children and families. We wish her well in Wales with whatever exciting challenges await.

I spent Tuesday morning at Montbelle, meeting some other heads from Greenwich schools to hear presentations delivered by staff members there on closing the attainment gap and attendance. Presentations focused on best practice and there was an opportunity for those present to share professional experiences.

World Book Day was an absolute joy today and I want to thank you for supporting your child/children to put together costumes and be prepared to be fully immersed in the experience.

I hope we are all able to enjoy better weather this weekend...fingers crossed!

Take good care.

Mr Hinchliffe Acting Head of School

On Thursday, Ms Silkin introduced International Women's Day in a thought-provoking assembly. Children learnt how far we have come in terms of equality, but that there is still some way to go. Two Year 6 children helped demonstrate inequality through a game of blindfolded football.

Today marked the annual Sherington World Book Day celebrations, with children from Nursery to Year 6 exploring and celebrating the message of hope through the book 'The Red Tree' by Shaun Tan. Children took part in a range of immersive and stimulating activities - ranging from poetry to collage, drama and art. Costumes, as usual, surpassed the previous year; they were creative and imaginative.

"... but suddenly there it is, right in front of you. Bright and vivid, quietly waiting."

Attendance

The award for last week's attendance goes to Badgers with 99.3%

Word of the Day

This week's vocabulary has been: odd, drab, deceitful, quaint and tense . How can you weave these in to this weekend's conversation?

RESULTS

On Tuesday, seven girls from years 3 and 4 competed in the final of the football tournament. The team were very unfortunate to lose 6-4 in a highly-competitive match. The team showed great humility and bravery.

In April, I am taking part in the London Marathon, running for Starlight: a remarkable charity dedicated to providing children in hospitals with the opportunity to experience what all children should - the magic of play! Starlight's mission is to boost the wellbeing and resilience of children during their illness, offering them moments of joy, distraction and laughter when they need it most. If you can, please help by donating to Starlight. Please follow the link to my Just Giving page. <https://www.justgiving.com/page/chloeprice-starlight>

Thank you for your generosity and for being a part of this meaningful cause.

Miss Price
